The markets renewed cover six percent of the U.S. and serve approximately seven million households.

“Sinclair is an important and valued local broadcasting partner,” said Ray Hopkins, President, Television Networks Distribution, CBS Corporation. “We are pleased to enter another affiliation agreement with them, and in so doing, realize the full value for the programing we will provide to their stations.”

The long-term renewed agreements include all of our CBS affiliations expiring in 2015, as well as an early renewal of all agreements expiring in 2016, with terms that reflect the symbiotic relationship between us and our network partner, ensuring our interests are fully aligned.
