SINCLAIR'S "THE POINT WITH MARK HYMAN" WINS FOUR AURORA AWARDS

BALTIMORE (April 23, 2007) - Sinclair Broadcast Group, Inc. (Nasdaq: SBGI) announced that "The Point," a daily commentary by Mark Hyman and aired on Sinclair's news stations, has been honored with four Aurora Awards for excellence, including two Platinum Best in Show Awards for the Social Issues and Documentary category. Hyman won two Aurora Awards in 2006. It was announced earlier this month that Hyman also received four Telly Awards for excellence in 2007. "The Point" went on recess in December 2006 so that Mr. Hyman could assist the Company in tackling important strategic issues affecting the broadcast industry.

Receiving a Platinum Best in Show Aurora Award was the following commentary:

Wheels for Warriors addressed the work of the non-profit organization Operation Support Our Troops and its efforts to provide handicapped accessible vans to disabled military veterans who were wounded in Afghanistan or Iraq. Operation Support Our Troops presented its very first vehicle to former U.S. Army SGT Jose Gallo, who was shot in the head by a sniper in Mosul, Iraq. Gallo suffered paralysis in the left side of his body, losing use of his left arm and left leg. He also was completely blinded in his right eye and he lost peripheral vision in his left eye. The vehicle improved the lives of Gallo, his wife and their two young daughters. The couple are immigrants from Peru.

Also receiving a Platinum Best in Show Aurora Award was the following commentary:

Reuters Doctored Photograph looked at the recurring problem of print organizations manipulating photographs and/or publishing faked photographs without verifying authenticity, oftentimes creating a wildly false impression of events. A Reuters photograph of August 2006 bombing damage in Beirut, Lebanon had smoke digitally added to the image. A photograph displayed across the front page of the Los Angeles Times in April 2003 was actually an amalgamation of two different photos. In May 2004 and only days after the Abu Ghraib prison story broke, the Boston Globe published sexually explicit photographs purporting to show U.S. servicemen raping Iraqi women. The photographs were fakes and had actually come from a Hungarian pornographic website. USA Today published a photograph in November 2005 that had the eyes of Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice dramatically altered, giving her a demonic appearance. This commentary was also awarded a Silver Telly, the highest award given, for 2007.

Receiving a Gold Aurora Award was the following commentary:

Break-up the Ninth Court of Appeals examined the trend of the of the exceedingly large percentage of the U.S. Supreme Court caseload that comes from the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.
In the 2003 and 2004 Supreme Court sessions, 43 of the 160 cases argued before the high court came from just the Ninth. The remaining 117 cases came from the other 12 circuits and all 50 state supreme courts.

Thirty-four of the Ninth’s 43 cases under review were overturned; 22 of them were overturned unanimously! Decisions by the Ninth were so flawed that all of the justices on the Supreme Court -- conservatives and liberals alike -- voted unanimously 22 times to overturn them. The short term solution is to break-up the Ninth into two smaller and more manageable courts since the Ninth represents a population about twice the size of any of the other 12 circuits. This commentary was also awarded a Bronze Telly Award for 2007.

Also receiving a Gold Aurora Award was the following commentary:

Senate e-Filing addressed the fact that candidates for office in the U.S. Senate are exempted from having to file with the Federal Election Commission electronic campaign finance reports. Electronic filing is required of all other participants in federal elections including candidates for President, U.S. House, national party committees, and political action committees that contribute to federal elections. However, candidates for the U.S. Senate, both incumbents and challengers, may file paper copies of their campaign finance reports. Generally, campaign contributions made in the closing months of a senatorial campaign will not be available for public scrutiny prior to the November general election.
